

Tears, red like blood

Von chibinis-chan

The beginning

"It began two hundred years ago. On a journey, I received a small village. The night was coming and so everything I could do, was stay in that village for the night."

He looked up. "Do you really want to hear that story?"
Another voice answered lightly and he went on

"So I went to the next inn. I ordered a room and something to eat. The host smiled at me and went into the kitchen. I heard him working and after some time he went back with the ordered meal. I ate it then went into my room. When I opened the door, I really was surprised. The room seemed to be very old, but really tidy and in a good state. After a while I lay down on the bed and closed my eyes."

He took a deep breath. The boy next to him seemed really nervous. "Please go on. I want to hear it all"
He nodded.

"I didn't sleep well. A nightmare had taken over my dream. Someone called me. Just in a really low voice, than getting louder and louder and more and more demand. It didn't stop. The voice went louder and louder until it was besides me. In a hurry I opened my eyes. Next to me there was a young boy, smiling at me. I don't know why, but I knew it was a boy.

"Hello my sweet"

I couldn't move or say something, so I only starred at this beautiful creature in front of me. His skin was nearly white, like porcelain. His eyes were black like the night and deep like the ocean and his hair was blue, dark blue. I never saw such a beautiful creature. I couldn't look away, and the boy didn't stop smiling.

"Did you have a good night"

Oh god, his voice was so beautiful. Not loud, but powerful. I only could look at him, nothing else. Suddenly his look changed.

"What is it? Why didn't you answer me?" He came down and looked straight into my eyes. "What is it sweety?"

Oh God. Why did he have to be so beautiful? How could it be?

"Oh , am I not good enough to speak with?"

I couldn't help me. This Creature was so beautiful - too beautiful for this world. I opened my mouth, but my voice didn't do what I want it to do. The young man in front of me began to laugh.

"Oh sorry, I forgot. I'm not like something you ever saw, ne. I never show my true form, but now it is different. I don't want to be alone anymore. My life is so sad. Then you came here and I knew, you are the one I was waiting for." His dark eyes looked straight into mine. I gulped.

"Who.. who... are... you?"

"Oh! Suddenly you are able to speak? Ok. That's really good. Your voice sounds nice."

"Please tell me..."

"Oh sweetie, you're so cute. But sorry, I can't tell you now. I don't have time for this. The sun will rise in only a short time, but I will visit you again. I won't let you go away that easily, never"

With this words he went to the window and looked out. Then suddenly he was gone. I wondered if everything only had been a dream, but I can't forget that person. I knew everything would change, and I also knew, I would see him again. And strangely enough I was looking forward to that time."

He looked up. "You know what he was?"

The boy nodded "Yeah, or better I think so"

"Than, I can tell you, you are wrong. He's much more, something really special. But you will hear everything."

"I hope so" The boy lightly smiled. "I really hope so"

"Then I will go on now, ne?"

"Yes, please"