

cherry blossums

Von abgemeldet

Kapitel 1: midnight

Don't be too hard to me it's my first time writing an ff in english have fun_____

Oh how he hated this. Today was a cruel day. He had to work so long and all because of his costar who always tried to kiss him! Tsuruga ren was pissed off, so pissed off that he didn't even say goodbye to her or to the director and this was something that he normally wouldn't do. This surprised Director Okawa who had always thought that he would never be like this just understand that even the Tsuruga Ren was only a human. A human like everybody else and a man.

"Am I stupid?" he asked himself as he sat down on a chair. "I have to change the female lead and I really need somebody who is young but on good terms with Ren."

at Rens's home

Ren laid on his sofa watching a show he wasn't really interested in. His thoughts were only on one person. A young girl with the name of Kyoko. He really loved her but he couldn't tell her. Ren was so afraid to scare her but it was so hard for him to hold back. He WAS a 21 years old man in love and so it was normal that he wanted her so much.

Ren's POV

I can't hold back any longer. I want to touch her, hug her, kiss her all over and love her. I'm just a man! When I get near her I always have to be careful not to kiss those sweet lips of hers. Why? If I go to bed now I will be just dreaming about doing things with her! But I can't do this. Kyoko is just turning 18 in some months and underage right now. Hell, she doesn't even believe in love!

Norma POV

At this moment the doorbell rang and Ren opened the door wondering who could it be at such a late time. As he opened the door the first thing the actor saw were a pair of big golden eyes.

